Application for the position of a Team Leader Advertising at Swatch

To Whom It May Concern,

Why am I applying for? _____

It is a great pleasure to apply for the position of a Team Leader Advertising at Swatch. When I came across this position on LinkedIn I immediately recognised that I fit the job perfectly — I hope that the Head of Communications will find my experience interesting. As a Senior Media Planner with over 4 years of professional experience in 360-degree media approach, I am confident that I would be a valuable asset to the Marketing team.

P.S. I see that one of the professional requirements is 5-7 years of experience, my experience is a bit less than that. However in the advertising world it is said that «1 year counts for 2 years», especially when working in the largest global marketing and advertising agencies and with the largest international clients.

What is my experience? _____

I worked only with the largest advertisers on the Russian market. Being a Junior Digital Planner I led Online Video planning for all chocolate brands of Mars with monthly budgets of about 400K USD, on the next positions I handled only the biggest ad campaigns with budgets of about 3M USD each. Thanks to good relations with partners there was a possibility to create unique projects — one of the latest campaigns that I conducted for Mondelez was nominated for the best branded effect in 2021 in Eastern Europe by TikTok Awards.

How about next steps? _____

I am excited to speak with you about how my skills in media planning can help Swatch. Let me know when would be a good time for an interview.

Best regards,

Oksana Nesterova
